

FINLAND, TOO, HAS ITS VALLEY FORGE!

LUTHERANS ASK AID FOR FINNS

Next Two Sundays to Be Prayer Days for War Victims

Cooperating with other churches of the American Lutheran world convention, the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church will observe Sunday, Feb. 18, and Sunday, Feb. 25, as days of special prayer for war-stricken Finland and all Lutheran mission fields affected by present war conditions.

The observance will mark the beginning of a nationwide Lutheran emergency campaign for a $500,000 war relief fund, sponsored by the American Lutheran world convention committee.

Rev. G. D. Keister, pastor, pointed out today that, while Lutherans are still being urged to support the Finnish relief drive led by former President Herbert Hoover, the church campaign is planned to provide a supplementary fund to be distributed by the Lutheran church of Finland.

Officials of the church in Finland, Archbishop Erkki Kaile and Bishop Max von Bonsdorff, members of the Lutheran world convention executive committee, have informed church leaders in America of the "urgent needs" of their people.

The entire Sunday school offering of the Holy Trinity church Feb. 25 will be turned over to the fund. Additional opportunity will be given members to make other contributions.

Feminine Honor Pupils Outnumber Boys at Salem High

Girl honor students outnumber the boys two to one at Salem High school for last semester, averages, it is disclosed.

Today's report lists 100 girls and 50 boys who have received grades of A or B in at least four subjects during the semester.

The Juniors, with 19 per cent of the class on the honor roll, lead the list. The Freshmen were next with 18 per cent and the Sophomores third with 12 per cent. The Seniors' percentage was 11.

Salem High school expects to have at least 20 solo and ensemble entries in the district music contest at Muskingum college April 13 and the students are now being rehearsed by Chester M. Brautigan, band director. The state finals at Oberlin are scheduled for April 27.

The Hi-Tri of Salem High school will sponsor a "Hill Billy" dance next Wednesday night in the school gymnasium. The dramatic club will present a skit at intermission.

The Melville Glass Blowers will be presented at a high school assembly Monday morning, sponsored by the High School association.

"Little Women" to Be Junior Class Play

The Junior class at Salem High school has selected "Little Women" by Louisa May Alcott, as its play to be presented in the High school auditorium March 28 and 29.

Miss Viola Bodo has chosen her cast and rehearsals are under way. Stage settings, costumes and coiffures will be styled according to the 1850 period, the year in which the original story was written. "Little Women" has been a favorite in the field of both literature and drama.

Leetonia Lutheran Layman Will Speak In Local Church

Ira F. Mellinger, prominent layman of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of Leetonia, will be guest speaker at the morning worship service of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church Sunday.

The musical service will be in charge of Mrs. J. A. Fehr.

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of the Salem church, will conduct services at the Leetonia church in the absence of his pastor, Rev. John W. Grohne.

The Salem debaters went to Alliance yesterday, where they held a practice engagement with High school speakers.

OHIO DEMOCRATS FOR ROOSEVELT

Senator Vic Donahey Is Next In Line for Favorite Son Vote

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—Ohio's Democratic central and executive committee members formally declared today that the state's delegation to the national convention should support President Roosevelt if he desired renomination.

The "harmony" meeting directed that if Mr. Roosevelt eliminated himself as a candidate, the delegation should support Sen. Vic Donahey as the first choice "favorite son" and National Committeeman Charles Sawyer of Cincinnati as the second choice.

Names of Donahey and Sawyer will be formally designated on ballots as the choices of delegate-candidates sponsored by the state organization.

James W. Huffman of Columbus, son-in-law of Senator Donahey, cast the sole negative ballot against the Roosevelt resolution. Speculation arose immediately as to whether Donahey would accept the favorite son role because of the announced support for Roosevelt.

O.S.U. Aid to Speak At Youth Meeting

LISBON, Feb. 17.—Herschel W. Nisonger, assistant director of the bureau of special adult education of Ohio State university, will address the mid-year meeting of the Lisbon Youth committee at 2:15 p. m. Sunday in the American Legion house, West Lincoln way.

Nisonger, former vice president of the Ohio conference on adult education, will speak on "Community Planning." All interested in the youth movement here are invited to hear him.

Alliance May Hold Election March 12

ALLIANCE, Feb. 17.—A special election on three extra tax levies to provide revenue for the restoration of police and fire departments to normal strength and the rehabilitation of City hospital will take place here March 12, if the Stark county board of elections grants the request of city council.

A three-quarter mill levy would raise $21,000 for the fire department; a half-mill levy, $14,000 for the police department and a quarter-mill, $7,000 for hospital purchases.

The special election was advocated by the Chamber of Commerce to prevent an announced $42,000 increase in fire insurance rates.

CONVENTION GOES TO PHILADELPHIA

Farley Calls Meeting, May Set Democratic Date Today

(BULLETIN)

(By Associated Press) MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 17.—The 1940 Democratic national convention will meet in Chicago beginning Monday, July 15, to pick nominees for president and vice president.

Pestmaster General James A. Farley, acting as chairman of the Democratic national committee, made the announcement at a press conference here today.

He had been empowered by the committee to choose the date, and promised a decision "satisfactory to all."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Campaign ammunition—more than 30,000 words of it—was hauled to the political front today by the Republicans, who yesterday decided to hold their national nominating convention in Philadelphia beginning Monday, June 24.

The Democrats will meet in Chicago somewhat later. National Chairman James A. Farley, taking time out from a Florida vacation, called a press conference at Miami this morning at which he was expected to announce the time of the Democratic convention.

Chicago Is Outbid

Philadelphia won over Chicago for the Republican meeting, offering $200,000 in cash and the auditorium and concessions to boot. This had the effect of raising its bid to around $250,000. Chicago took the position it was not up for "auction" and made no cash offer, but promised to meet all convention expenses, which normally run around $125,000.

Republican officials worked today on plans for publication Monday of the bulky "program" report of Dr. Glenn Frank, of Chicago, chairman of an unofficial committee of 150. This document is intended to state the case against the Roosevelt administration and outline basic data for the 1940 platform.

Report Is Attacked

Two years in the making, the report was subjected to an attack from within the party's own ranks even before publication.

Robert R. Church, Memphis Negro leader, who said he held a proxy for Mrs. R. C. McLane, of Nashville, national committee-woman from Tennessee, complained that the Frank report was "entirely to the Negro press," "factual Negro voters."

He proposed that a special unit be created in the party's national committee with $100,000 to spend in gathering and disseminating, mostly to the Negro press, "factual data" affecting the race's political and economic security.

Although the committee wound up its work yesterday, a committee on arrangements for the convention, headed by Ralph E. Williams, of Oregon, vice chairman of the national committee, was called today to appoint some subcommittees. It is this group's duty also to pick a temporary convention chairman and "keynoter," but Williams said this would not be done for a couple of months.

The June 24 date was selected in executive session, where a majority argued against jockeying with the Democrats to determine who should pick 1040 standard bearers and write a platform first. It means the Republicans will cut their normal post-convention campaign short only a couple of weeks, since it has been their habit to nominate the second week in June.

Judges Are Ill

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 17.—When seventh district appellate court begins its semi-annual rounds of 13 northeastern Ohio counties at Painesville next Monday, only Judge William M. Carter of Warren will be on duty.

Judges from other districts will be in place of Elmer T. Phillips of Youngstown, injured in a fall in his home here several months ago, and John C. Nicholas of St. Clairsville, who had a major operation in a Youngstown hospital last month.

The tanks maneuvered under combat conditions, crashing through woods and houses, fighting off attacking planes and crossing rivers (inset), through smoke screens.

PROTEST FILED BY NORWEGIANS

Demand British Return Prisoners and Pay Compensation

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 17.—The Norwegian government was reported today to have protested sharply to Britain over the action of British warships in boarding the German steamer Altmark in Norwegian waters and forcibly removing British prisoners.

Advices from Oslo indicated Norway had asked Britain to return the British prisoners, pay compensation and in the future respect Norwegian sovereignty and territorial waters.

Norwegian Statement

The dramatic encounter between the British warships and the Altmark was described in a Norwegian communique published here which said:

"The German steamer Altmark yesterday afternoon arrived in Gjesingfjord escorted by a Norwegian torpedo boat. The ships were stopped by two British destroyers giving warning shots.

"Soon after five British torpedo boats and a British warship arrived. The Norwegian vessel protested twice, and the Altmark and Norwegian torpedo boat entered while the British ships disappeared outside territorial waters.

"Later in the evening one of the British destroyers returned, using searchlights. About 11 p. m. (5 p. m. E. S. T.) a British warship followed and stopped alongside the Altmark taking on board some of the British citizens who had been on the German ship, whereafter the British warship disappeared.

"The Norwegian foreign office protested sharply to Britain over this neutrality violation."

German Contact Berlin

The German officers on board the Altmark were reported to have gone ashore and have contacted German officials in Berlin.

British destroyers were said to be still waiting outside Gjesingfjord. No details were available on the extent of the fighting but it was reported there was a heavy exchange of rifle shots before the British sailors could board the Altmark.

As the British warship steamed off after rescuing the British aboard the Altmark—who were said to have been prisoners taken by the German pocket battleship Graf Spee in her south Atlantic operations—the British sailors could be heard cheering wildly.

Norwegian Premier Johan Nygaardsvold was reported to have proceeded personally to the British legation to lodge the protest against the British action.

Mahoning County Townships Boost Road Cost Share

Mahoning county's 14 townships will give the county engineering department approximately $20,000 more in 1940 than in 1939 for county-sponsored WPA road building and improvement jobs, County Engineer Robert Schomer estimated today.

This year, Schomer estimates, townships will pay the county approximately $59,000 of their total highway budget of $142,000 as their share of the cost. Last year, townships gave about $39,000 from a road budget of $137,000.

The county-township projects do not include many which the county engineering office will undertake itself.

At a meeting yesterday, trustees of Boardman, Springfield, Canfield, Poland, and Coitsville townships agreed to give the county $20,300 from their road budgets which total $61,687.

Trustees of Austintown, Jackson, Berlin, Milton and Ellsworth townships, Wednesday pledged $34,650 from their road funds totaling $42,653.

Boardman trustees pledged the largest amount, agreeing to give $9,600 from their $12,042 budget.

Canfield trustees pledged $3,500 of their road budget of $8,303. They want a cutoff from State Route 46 to State Route 194, near the southern township boundary line, and improvement of part of the Crory road and part of the Turner's School-Ohltown road.

Reports Are Given On Grange Sessions

Reports of the state grange sessions were given by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bailey of Mt. Nebo grange at a meeting of Salem subordinate grange last night. A coverish dinner preceded the meeting.

The Salem juvenile grange followed its business meeting with a program which included a group song, "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," a poem by Lois Zimmerman and a penny march. The roll call topic was: "Favorite Nursery Rhymes."

Geologist's Talk Will Finish Rotary Series Tuesday Night

John Alexander Morrison, geologist who has traveled extensively in Russia, will be the speaker at the concluding program of the Rotary club's Institute of International Understanding Tuesday night.

The final program of the series will be held in the chapel of the Presbyterian church and will commence at 8:15 p. m. Previous talks were heard in the High school auditorium.

Morrison was educated at Dartmouth college, the University of Breslau, Germany, Osteuropa Institute in Breslau, and at the University of Chicago, from which institution he received his doctor's degree. He was a member of the department of geography at the University of Chicago from 1928 to 1938, having as his special field the geography of the Soviet Union and of the Near East. He had the distinction of conducting the first course in the geography of the Soviet Union ever given in the U. S. A. In connection with his special preparation.

REDS' MACHINE GRINDS FORWARD

Remaining Women, Children Are Ordered from Viipuri Today

(By Associated Press) HELSINKI, Feb. 17.—The Finnish army ordered removal of the few remaining women and children from Viipuri today, it was reported, as the gigantic Soviet Russian drive on the Karelian isthmus entered its 17th day with the Finns losing some positions less than a score of miles from the city.

Posting of notices in Helsinki for the class of 1898 to come to the colors indicated the Finnish plight, meanwhile.

This call for men 41 and 42 years of age followed calls within the past three days for those of 42 to 44.

As more than 100 Russian bombers were sighted over southern Finland, flying towards the important industrial city of Tampere, foreign military observers said the big battle of the Karelian isthmus was nearing the peak of fury.

One observer said the Finnish army should be able to withstand smashes even harder than those for the past 17 days without giving up a single inch. After that, he predicted, there should be a lull in the costly Russian offensive.

This should provide time for consolidating positions before another drive started.

One woman reaching here today said she and others who had special permission to remain in Viipuri after the general removal of several weeks ago, had to leave now as a precaution because Viipuri was so close to the fighting lines it was subject to frequent air raids.

Only one civilian was reported killed in yesterday's raids.

On the Karelian isthmus, the great Red army thrust that began on Feb. 1 was exerting severest pressure at Taipale, on the shore of Lake Ladoga and between Hattajala and the Vuoksi river, the Finns said.

The judgment is asked as royalty on coal stripped from the plaintiffs' farm between Oct. 1, 1938, and February, 1939, under an agreement entered into on July 2, 1938, whereby the plaintiffs were to receive 20 cents per ton royalty. It is stated 7,257 tons of coal were removed, and the balance claimed due amounts to $1,051.38.

WARSHIPS HALT ALTMARK, NAZI PRISON VESSEL

Four Germans Are Killed In Battle In Norwegian Waters

SAILORS TAKEN ABOARD CRUISER

Were from 7 Merchant Ships Sunk by Admiral Graf Spee

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Feb. 17.—Rescue of 300 to 400 British merchant seamen from the German prison ship Altmark by British warships which entered Norwegian territorial waters to accomplish their mission was reported today by the British admiral.

In a battle in an arrow fjord, four Germans were killed and five wounded severely, while the British forces suffered one casualty, it reported.

Tanker Scuttled

At the same time the Altmark battle was in progress, the admiral said, the German tanker Baldur was seen passing outside territorial waters. The Baldur crew scuttled her when the British demanded she halt.

The admiral said it had searched for the Altmark since the battle of Montevideo, which brought eventual destruction of the pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee.

The imprisoned seamen were from seven merchant ships sunk by the Admiral Graf Spee, the admiral said.

Two days ago, it reported, it was learned that the Altmark was trying to sneak into a German port by using the peculiar coastal formations of the Norwegian fjords.

British planes and destroyers were sent to apprehend her.

Examined by Norwegians

On the word of the Norwegian commander that the ship had been examined in Bergen the day before and that no prisoners were aboard, the British withdrew.

Last night, on new orders from the admiral, the Cosack sailed for the fjord. The Altmark maneuvered to try to ram the Cosack, the admiral related, but instead ran aground stern-first.

The British seamen boarded the stranded ship, a fight ensued, and all the imprisoned merchant sailors were saved.

"The Altmark was overpowered," the admiral's statement said. "Part of her crew fled ashore and the rest submitted."

"Between three and four hundred British prisoners who had been battered down below were taken on board the Cosack, which, with other British vessels in company, is now approaching British shores."

The freed men will reach a Scottish port later today, it was said. "The British officers stated today during the Norwegian examination at Bergen, of the Altmark," said the admiral, "their efforts to make their presence known to the searching party were unheeded."

The admiral's statement ended with the story of the Baldur's scuttling.

"Summoned to stop the destroyer Ivanhoe," it said, "she thereupon scuttled herself in German fashion."

Sue Coal Strippers For $1,051.38 Royalty

LISBON, Feb. 17.—S. G. Hepburn and Etta Hepburn of Middleburg township filed an action in the county court today against Martin and F. M. Traylor, operators of a coal stripping project seeking to collect $1,051.38, together with interest from Dec. 15, 1938.

The judgment is asked as royalty on coal stripped from the plaintiffs' farm between Oct. 1, 1938, and February, 1939, under an agreement entered into on July 2, 1938, whereby the plaintiffs were to receive 20 cents per ton royalty. An address by Ira F. Mellinger, prominent layman of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of Leetonia, will be heard by members of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church at the morning worship service of their church tomorrow, the second Sunday in Lent.

Complete services for the church are as follows:

Sunday school, 9:45 a. m. (St. Matthew 22:15-40); Charles Youtz, superintendent.

The influence of Christianity upon people should make them good citizens. The authority of the civil rulers is always respected by the teachings in the Scripture. The Christian is both a citizen in a nation and also the Kingdom of God. This is not a conflicting citizenship or loyalty. Good Christians ought to have the best citizens. They do as the rule. Christians must also play fair with both God and man.

Morning worship, 11. Address by I. F. Mellinger.

"Lent is not a time to fulfill religious obligations for the year. There is a great deal of legalism in observing Lent. Some keep it as a kind of bribe for a guilty conscience. Some persons are carried away in these days by the mad rush of society, business and other worldlyness, and welcome Lent as a time when they can make amends. This kind of keeping Lent is the merest foolishness. Lent is not a time to pacify a guilty conscience, but a time to deepen religious convictions and heighten Christian joy and peace. It is not a formality that pleases God, but sincerity of the heart."

"In the Cross of Christ I glory. Towering o'er the wrecks of time; All the light of sacred story Gathers round its head sublime."

6:30 p. m., Luther leagues. The senior topic is "Evangelism and Service"; the intermediate topic is "Seeking for a Good Name." Lynn Koch, leader.

Christian Science Society Services

"Soul" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow. The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WCLE (610 kil.) in Cleveland the first and third Sundays of each month at 11 a. m.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years is held at 9:30 a. m. A mid-week service is held at the church at 8 p. m. the first Wednesday of each month.

The Golden Text is: "I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people" (Leviticus 26:11, 12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Many, O Lord my God, are the wonderful works which Thou hast done, and Thy thoughts which are to us:ward; they cannot be reckoned up in order unto Thee: if I would declare and speak of them, they are more than can be numbered" (Psalm 40:5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Day may decline and shadows fall, but darkness flees when the earth has again turned upon its axis. The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So Science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death—as the central Life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind" (p. 310).

This society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 7 to 9 p. m. on Saturday.

The public is invited to attend all services and to visit the reading room.

Emmanuel Lutheran Services Tomorrow

The third sermon on the "Second Article of the Apostles' Creed," which treats of Christ and His work of redemption, will be delivered by Rev. John Bauman, pastor at the divine worship service of the Emmanuel Lutheran church at 10 a. m. Sunday.

The sermon subject is "The Son of God." The text for the service is written in St. Matthew 16:13-18. If you have no church home, we invite you to come and hear the old, old story of Jesus and His love for sinners.

The graded Sunday school, which meets at 9 a. m. is ready to receive your children and give them a thorough Christian instruction under a competent and consecrated teaching staff.

We bid you, in particular, to set aside your Thursday evenings from now until Easter, and to attend the Thursday Lenten services. They are intended to bring you closer to Christ by a powerful meditation upon your Savior and the price He paid to redeem you from sin.

Our motto is: "We Preach Christ Crucified."

LENTE MEDITATION
(Isaiah 53:4-5.)

The Servant of the Lord became the Man of Sorrow. He was stricken, smitten and afflicted. The evangelists in their description of the Passion present the awful details. And what the soul of Jesus endured, when He who knew no sin thus was made to be sin, no mortal mind can imagine.

And all this was for us. "He hath borne our griefs and carried our sorrows." He took our place. We should have borne these griefs and carried these sorrows. We should have gone through all those horrors of physical, mental and spiritual anguish.

For we are sinners and as such, accursed. "The wages of sin is death." But "He was wounded for our transgressions. He was bruised for our iniquities." Again the prophet clearly states: "The truth that is so fundamental in the Christian religion, the divine act of substitution. God suffering for sinners. That is the secret of the passion that we must grasp. Once grasped it will compel our eternal gratitude to 'the Lamb that was slain.'"

For to we have peace and healing. "The chastisement of our peace was upon Him, and with His stripes we are healed." What we are unable to do, though desperately we strive, our proxy by His passion has accomplished: He has made peace between us who have sinned and God who by our sin was offended. Our days on earth with all their difficulties and sorrow are spent in the gladdening assurance that we are on the way to heaven.

DRIVE TO UNITE EMPLOYERS ON

Association Planned To Create Voice In National Labor

SALEM, Ore. — Plans for extension of the Associated Employers of Oregon into a national employers' front are being worked over here by the association's headquarters staff.

Under the direction of Dan Hay executive manager, the first national meeting has been scheduled for March 25, 26 and 28 in Spokane. Organization surveys have been made in Washington, Idaho and Montana among the business men and by extension into other states the group anticipates an increase in membership from the present total of more than 2,000 Oregon firms to 200,000 from all over the nation by Aug. 1.

The chief purpose of the national group will be "to create a voice for the employer in national labor legislation and to help coordinate uniform labor relation laws between the various sister states."

Wagner Act Is Target

One of the immediate results of the organization's entrance into the national scene would be a nationwide employer drive against the Wagner Act.

The Associated Employers was started two years ago, when the Salem Merchants' Association, tired of facing a solid front and getting the short end of the bargain in labor negotiations, organized to conduct negotiations for its members with labor representatives.

The business men hired Hay, who had handled labor relations for the Oregon-Washington Motor Vehicle Association, to lead the new movement.

Acceptance of the plan by other towns of Oregon followed shortly when Hay began a campaign. At present there are 38 chapters and some 2,300 members in the state.

"RED EARTH" by TOM GILL

CHAPTER XXIII

A mile farther on Douglas dropped back beside the Texan "Bob." I want you to take six men and wait at the foot of the trail. The rest of us will circle up the nearer canyon and come down on the morada from above. If anybody happens to be there that will put it between the two of us. Don't let anyone pass you." Pulling out his watch, he lighted a match. "Set your watch by mine—it's eleven five. Better give me an hour. At midnight you close in on the morada from below and I'll meet you from above."

Shortly before midnight Douglas halted just before the trail turned above the morada. There he dismounted and signing the others to wait, went down the stony path. At the bend he stopped. Within the deep shadow of the canyon wall the morada lay in utter darkness the door tightly closed. There would be no meeting of the Brotherhood that night.

Creeping beneath the window Douglas knelt outside the door, and placing his ear against the wood, listened. A soft scraping sound inside, followed by a low whisper, came to him.

Without waiting for more, he hurried back to his men. "Someone is in the morada," he told them as they crowded about him. "Perhaps their guards caught sight of our men at the lower end of the canyon and gave the alarm. The place may be filled with them, so when we get there, keep well back among the shadows and take shelter. Whoever is inside, soon bring out—and they may come out shooting."

Swinging into the saddle, he rounded the last bend, and with twelve vaqueros hard after him, Douglas halted in front of the morada just as Russell's men swarmed up the narrow trail, eager for action.

"Did anyone pass you?" Douglas called to the Texan.

"Nary a soul."

"I heard voices inside the morada." He turned to the men. "Dis-mount, every one of you, and get back among the rocks. Whoever doesn't come out with his hands up—shoot him down." Russell at his side, Douglas walked to the door, and with the butt of his revolver knocked on the heavy oak. No answer. Again he knocked, but only the echoes of his pounding ring, sounded from the canyon walls, and drawing a flashlight he called to two of his vaqueros. "Break in that door."

Each wielding a double-bitted ax the men began with a will, and soon beneath that barrage of blows the door quivered on its hinges, while flakes of adobe began falling down the walls. Suddenly above the pounding a terrified wail arose, and Douglas motioned the men to stop. "Will you open that door before we break it down?"

From within a frightened voice in Spanish quavered. "Quien es? We open only to the Brotherhood."

Douglas nodded to his men and again the canyon echoed to blow after savage blow. Amid a rasping screech of twisting metal, the lock gave way and Douglas burst headlong into the blackness of the room. Blindingly his flashlight played about him, then came to rest against the farther wall, where three peons cowered. Their frightened eyes gleamed wildly in the light, their hands stretched high above their heads in a torment of fear.

The lights of his vaqueros were touching every corner of the room, but beyond that trembling tableau the place was empty, and Douglas turned his attention to the inner door. It was of much more sturdy structure than the other, and fastened by a lock of heavy steel.

"Open that door," he ordered the three peons.

But the older shook his head. "We cannot, senior. Only our leader hold a key to that room where we may not enter."

A word from Douglas to his vaqueros and the two ax-men stepped to the door and broke it open. Douglass stepped inside.

Instead of the small inner room he had expected, he saw now that the wall shelved sharply back into the cliff; in making the morada its builders had chosen a point where the rock, sloping inward, formed a large recess beyond the morada itself—a room of living rock.

Directly ahead a long table stretched across the floor and ranged close about it were nine wooden chairs intricately carved. On the back of each hung a brightly colored robe probably ceremonial robes used by the higher officers of the Brotherhood in the ritual of their secret meetings. At the head of the table stood a tall silver goblet. Again the flashlight moved. Beyond the table a wooden rack held thirty high-powered rifles and above each one hung a well-filled cartridge belt. No longer any doubt of the connection between raiders and Brotherhood—the Killer's men had evidently used this room of the morada as one of their arsenals.

Still farther along the rocky wall that circle of light traveled, stopping at last on a huge map of yellow parchment hanging there, but unlike any map Douglas had ever seen. In shape it roughly resembled a great irregular wheel from whose center radiated a number of meandering lines that at first he thought were meant for streams. On some of them names had been written in Spanish, and curiously he bent closer, while a vague premonition of its importance made him scrutinize each waving enigmatic line.

But if it was a map, it corresponded to no section of the country he had known, either within the desert or the valley or any of the surrounding foothills. The names themselves were strange—"Rio de Plata," "Rio de Oro"—rivers of silver and gold. No streams in all the border count bore names such as these. And on one of them, in larger type, were printed the more sinister words, "Rio del Muerte."

Frowning, he jerked the parchment from the wall. This too might be part of the Brotherhood's ritual—some mystic symbolism, some—

A low groan from out the darkness brought him bolt upright, and dropping the map, Douglas whirled his searchlight in the direction of the sound. There, where the rock curved back into a deep recess before it met the floor, lay a half-naked form, shackled by one arm to the rock itself. On the man's left cheek Douglas saw a long white scar—he had found his peon at last!

Terribly emaciated the man was, every rib showing beneath the torn shirt, and a stubble of grizzled hair covered the sunken face.

Russell was kneeling beside him. "So this is how the Brotherhood keeps its members in terror of their lives," he growled.

Douglas had the peon released. "Carry him outside," he ordered, "but be careful of him. Our best hope of finding the raiders' hiding place may live in making this man talk."

Left to himself, Douglas turned to finish his exploration of the room. Just to the left of the doorway two crossed whips had been fastened, and above them a grinning skull looked down. Beneath that hideous symbol a great rectangle of polished smooth surface resembling a tablet of dark slate. And as a tablet the Brotherhood had used it, for on its burnished surface eight names were deeply cut with some sharp instrument.

One by one Douglas read those names, and as he read his eyes hardened, and above them a grinning skull looked down. Beneath that hideous symbol a great rectangle of polished smooth surface resembling a tablet of dark slate. And as a tablet the Brotherhood had used it, for on its burnished surface eight names were deeply cut with some sharp instrument.

slowly the echoes died, and once again silence brooded within the canyon except for the rattle of a battle as a startled horse moved restlessly.

With one impulse the little band surged forward. The dynamite had done its work well. Fragments of the morada strewn both trail and canyon. Of that long feared and hated meeting-place nothing but widespread ruin remained.

The lank Texan was first to speak. "This means war. From now on, it's fight or get out. The Brotherhood won't ever let this pass." Each man within that little band realized the truth of Russell's words, yet the heart of each was high—the ranchers of the border and found their leader.

It was two o'clock when they reached the hacienda, and taking leave of his vaqueros at the gate Douglas quietly entered the patio. Going to the window his eyes roved toward Coire, and it seemed as if against the sky the far-off ball of rising smoke symbolized the menace that was rolling nearer and nearer to the very doors of the ranches, and like the smoke itself might sweep at last over all the land. Just ahead the fight lay—a two-fold fight, perhaps, against the organized greed of the mining interests and the unleashed terrorism of the Brotherhood.

His hands unconsciously gripped the broad sill of the window, and his lungs breathed deeply of the cold air. He had just begun to fight. Harassed by debt, threatened on every side, he would not even think of defeat. For defeat meant more than the loss of the rancho; it meant heartbreak to his aunt, it meant the death of all his hopes; it meant defeat for Allison as well.

And at that thought there formed against the blackness of the night the pictured image of two faces—Allison and Lola. Allison with his small boyish head and straight-forward eyes; Lola with that childlike smile of hers, softer and more yielding. Each in their diverse way, so deeply a part of his daily living. Within the past months Allison had become his staunchest ally, the very soul of quiet, unswerving courage. And yet his aunt was right. Just as the rancho was part of his very life, so was Lola a part. She was under his protection; Allison nearly was of another world. More clearly than ever Douglas realized that a wall of responsibilities and of loyalties had been built up about him and could never be put aside. Miraculously the people of Miracle Mesa had their first imperious call upon him—more than ever now, surrounded by unknown enemies and menaced from within. His thoughts flashed back to Bodine—he saw again that insinuating hand on Lola's shoulder, and again he frowned into the night's blackness. Yes his aunt had been right. He would talk with Lola in the morning.

Jimmy Roosevelt, Wife and Nurse in News Glare

Romelle Schneider, James Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt

Now that it has been officially announced that the James Roosevelts will file for divorce, reports have begun circulating that perhaps Romelle Schneider, 23-year-old nurse, may be the next heart interest of Roosevelt. Miss Schneider, shown above with Jimmy and Mrs. Roosevelt some time ago, accompanied him to Hollywood after his serious illness at the Mayo clinic.

Carroll Club Gains Third Victory of Fourth Round In Class A Cage Circuit

Ohio State Employment Service Eliminated From League Race by Althouse Motors; Sohioans Win In Class B Game

The Carroll Club pulled up even with the National Sanitary in the fourth round race of the city's Class A basketball league last night, registering its third win of the round by defeating Roberts Men's Shop, 47 to 41.

The victory placed the Carrolls in a tie for first place with the Sanitary. Both teams have won three games and lost one in the fourth round.

Gaining a four-point lead in the first quarter, the Carrolls led Roberts all the way. They were out in front 8 to 4 at the end of the first period, 23 to 17 at halftime and 32 to 23 at the close of the third quarter. Roberts rallied to cut the Carrolls' lead from 10 to six points in the fourth period.

Tom Nedelka and Clay Raynes played the leading roles in the Carroll Club victory. Nedelka scored 15 points and Raynes 10. Mike Oana tallied 13 points for Roberts.

The Ohio State Employment Service cage were practically eliminated from the fourth round race in the other Class A game when they lost to the Althouse Motors, 32 to 31. It was the second defeat of the round for the O. S. E. S. five.

The two teams battled on practically even terms throughout the contest with the outcome in doubt right up to the final whistle. The score was tied at 23-all at the end of the third quarter after the Motors had held a two-point lead, 18 to 16, at halftime.

Paul Stratton connected for four field goals and six free throws to lead the Motors' scoring with 14 points. Del Schaffer paced the O. S. E. S. with 12 points. The Sohioans remained unbeaten in the Class B league's round robin tournament, scoring their second victory of the round by swamping the Christians, 32 to 17. It was the Christians' first set-back of the round robin event.

Taking a seven-point lead in the second quarter after an even first period, the Sohioans boosted their advantage to 11 points in the third quarter and remained safely out in front in the fourth period.

Spring IS Here! Dodgers Open Training Season

Proving that spring is here, the Brooklyn Dodgers open their training spiel at Clearwater, Fla., with Manager Leo Durocher showing mound recruits how the new pitching stance rule will work. The Dodgers are the first major league club to begin the long drive.

The Ohio Edison Dodgers moved to within two games of a tie for first place in the Federal league at the Masonic temple alleys last night after the leading Meissner's Service team was handed two set-backs by Brownie's Service.

The Dodgers gained three wins over the Sanitary Shippers to gain over Meissner's. Other Federal league matches saw the National Brass & Copper post three wins over the Eagles and the K. of C. gain two victories over the Sanitary Foremen.

Individual scoring featured the Grate Ladies' league at the Grate Recreation lanes as five women bowlers turned in series over the 500 mark.

Mrs. Ruth Hine was high for the night with a 354 series, including games of 199, 156 and 199. Mrs. Mildred Kline combined games of 166, 189 and 188 for a 545 series, while Miss Olive Ramsey hit 539 on games of 159, 181 and 159. A 204 single game featured the 506 series of Mrs. Ann Akens.

The Endres-Gross ladies remained out in front in the women's league by posting three wins over Brownie's Service. In other ladies matches, the Sunny Beauty Shoppe won three games from Finney Beauty Shoppe. Jean Frocks took three games from the Sinclairs, the Trades Class chalked up three wins over the Unknowns. Smith's Garage recorded two victories over Grate Recreation and the Church Budget gained three wins over Kaufman's.

GEOLOGIST TO SPEAK TUESDAY

Address Will Conclude Rotary Club Series In Salem

ation in the field of geology, he has done considerable traveling both independently and as a member of expeditions. He spent a month each in geographical observations in Dalmatia, Finland, and Sweden. He traveled north through Finland to the Arctic region and then south through Swedish Lapland. He was a member of the Anatolian expedition in excavation at Alisar, central Anatolia, serving with this expedition during the years of 1930 and 1932.

In June, 1937, he attended the 17th International Geological Congress held in Moscow, Russia. He was a member of the Siberian excursion of that Congress. Following his return to Moscow from Siberia, he spent six weeks studying the territorial-administrative structure of the U. S. S. R. and the various aspects of its economic geography. At the outbreak of the war, Sept. 1, Dr. Morrison was in Moscow and left several days later by airplane after the Red army began the occupation of eastern Poland.

He collaborated with H. H. von der Osten in writing the Oriental Institute communication entitled, "Discoveries in Anatolia." He has written for "The American Quarterly" on the Soviet Union on such subjects as "Territorial-Administrative Structure of the U. S. S. R." and has published a dissertation entitled, "Rilsar, a Unit of Land Occupation in Central Anatolia." He is at present working on a geography of the Soviet Union.

Reds Dent Mannerheim Line

Partial Russian success in the desperate Red drive on the Karelian isthmus was conceded by Finnish army leaders, but their communists insisted only "a few foremost positions" had been taken at a cost of thousands of Russian lives. The Finns charged deliberate violation of the rules of civilized warfare and appealed for immediate help.

Long Career Ends

AMHERST, Feb. 17.—Death has ended the medical career of Dr. Hugh I. Hall, 80, who estimated he attended the birth of 1,500 babies. Born at Jefferson, O., he was graduated from Grand River Institute at Austinburg, O., and Western Reserve university medical school.

OLD WEST VIVID TO TRAPPER, 106

Recalls Historic Days and Events In Montana Life

WOLF POINT, Mont.—Gabriel Bushman, Sr., trapper and trader in frontier days, is 106 years old, but he has no secret to which he ascribes his longevity.

He's always lived in northeastern Montana, pursuing an active, outdoor life. Now he collects odd canes and pipes and will tell many stories of frontier life to anyone who understands French or one of the several Indian dialects he speaks.

Historic old Fort Union and the town of Mondak, on the Montana-North Dakota line, were the scene of his early years. Fort Union was an early-day trading post on a promontory overlooking the junction of the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers. Mondak was a village nearby. Both are only memories now.

Bushman was born near Fort Union in 1934 of Assiniboin and French parentage and was a trapper and chief scout for the post until he married Margaret Azure in 1867.

The frontiersman met his wife on a trip to Woody Mountain in Canada. After his marriage he operated a trading post. For the past 35 years he has lived here.

Bushman knew Sitting Bull and witnessed many a skirmish between white and Indians. He never took part, however, in any of the Indian wars.

He has outlived all his brothers and sisters, his wife and all but three of his 41 children. His living children are Gabriel, Jr., and Mrs. Mary Moran, both of Wolf Point, and Adolph of Choteau, Mont.

Dies In Florida

COLUMBUS, Feb. 17.—The body of Lunsford P. Haldeman, who died Thursday at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., will be returned here for burial. Haldeman, 69, was a retired president of the Kentucky Fire Brick Co. of Haldeman, Ky. A native of Cleveland, he established the firm 30 years before coming to Columbus in 1933.

PITTSFIELD, Mass.—No smoking signs at the registry of deeds in the court house were taken down because "nobody paid any attention to them." "It was a noble experiment like prohibition," the registrar said, "but it also failed to work."

Auto Is Damaged

LISBON, Feb. 17.—The automobile of Thomas Foreman of Salem was damaged in a collision on N. Market st. here this morning which also involved a car driven by Ed Bennt of East Liverpool and a truck operated by Ralph Tucker of North Carolina. The vehicles skidded in attempting to pass a truck which was double-parked, police said.

More Volunteers for Finland

Each day sees more and more Scandinavian volunteers arriving in Finland to join in defending that country against the invading Russians. Here, somewhere on the northern battle front, are some of the latest volunteers. They are crack skiers and riflemen, were formerly in the Swedish army.

Accused Doctor in Court

Dr. Dazey and wife

On trial in Los Angeles for the murder of his first wife, whose death at first was believed to be a suicide, Dr. George K. Dazey, prominent physician, is shown talking with his present wife in the courtroom. A private detective testified he saw Dr. Dazey carry the limp form of his wife, Doris, into the garage of their home shortly before she was found dead of carbon monoxide gas in October, 1935.

Two Feet Short of Jailbreak

Prison authorities at Eastern State Penitentiary, Philadelphia, discovered this 38-foot tunnel leading from a cell when it was only two feet short of completion under the prison wall. Then another tunnel was found. Nine long-term convicts were placed in solitary confinement. A tenth hanged himself in his cell.

TAKE YOUR TIME
Editor, The News:
The present dial telephone system is the best ever invented. Its operation is so simple a six-year-old kid can work it.
Yet some olders have trouble getting the party wanted. If one wants number 3433 it would be impossible to get it by dialing 3333.
Dialing the wrong number causes much inconvenience to the wrong party, such as hustling down stairs or getting out of a warm bed in zero weather, only to find out some one without any excuse whatsoever has pulled a boner.
Take your time, there is no ringing of bells until the last digit has been worked. So why get in such a hurry? As Confucius would say, make haste slowly, time is unmeasurable.
